

NYC Climate Convergence

for People, Planet and Peace over Profit

*NYC Sept. 19-21

Come to a conference, skill share, and festival rolled into one.
Mobilize for system change to prevent catastrophic climate change.
Demand an end to fossil fuels and nuclear energy by 2030
And tens of millions of living wage jobs.

The UN and world leaders have been debating what to do about climate change for two decades - and gotten nowhere. Their solutions have only gotten fuzzier as the science and impact of climate change have become clearer. Now they're coming to New York and it's time for our voices to be heard! Join us as we discuss real alternatives and develop action plans that transform the system, rather than accept it.

We are told that technology, market mechanisms, or individual lifestyle changes are what will save the planet. They will not. Because they are all solutions that accommodate the system, not challenge it.

The root of the problem is an economic system that exploits people and the planet for profit. It is a system that requires constant growth, exploitation, warfare, racism, poverty and ever-increasing ecological devastation to function.

What will it take to change things? A mass movement for ecological and social justice that combines all our forces against a system that poisons our land, our water and the air we breathe.

Come to a weekend of politics and movement building - full of workshops, panels, music and community. The Convergence will culminate in the People's Climate March, and will put the politics we need into the fight against climate catastrophe. We call for:

- Millions of jobs in renewable energy, conservation, public transit
- A just transition from fossil fuels and nuclear power
- New food, water and sanitation systems
- An emergency transition to a new kind of economy
- Tax the rich & slash the bloated military budget
- And lots more
